American Journal of Legal History

Interested in submitting your work?
Here’s what you need to know

SCOPE AND METHODOLOGY

The American Journal of Legal History publishes work from emerging and distinguished scholars in all areas of legal history, from Roman and Islamic Law, to Latin America, the Middle East, China, the United Kingdom, the EU, and the contemporary US. The methodologies range from intellectual and social history to quantitative methods.

RAPID PUBLICATION

49 average number of working days between acceptance and online publication

INTERNATIONAL REPRESENTATION

Since OUP relaunched the American Journal of Legal History, authors have come from the following countries:

- Canada
- United States
- Israel
- Australia
- Ireland
- Switzerland
- Germany
- France
- The Netherlands
- Denmark
- UK
- Finland
- Korea
- Norway

EXPANDING HISTORIES OF INTERNATIONAL LAW

Martti Koskenniemi

Track conversations around your research through Altmetric reporting, available for all papers publishing in AJLH

DISSEMINATION

2,000 libraries worldwide are reached by AJLH, through the Journals Collection at Oxford University Press

Authors can post their article to their academic networks after 24 months.

AJLH is also available through:

- Westlaw
- Lexis
- Hein-Online
- JSTOR

Learn more: academic.oup.com/ajlh